

Design Engineer

About the role:

This is an exciting opportunity for a Design Engineer to join a team that prides itself on their innovation and creativity. Reporting to the Engineering Manager, this role is responsible for providing engineering leadership, capability, technical direction to our engineering team.

This role will be responsible for: the maintenance and design of future products, production drawings, product improvement, new product development, research, technical support, customer support and special projects.

About You:

- Have a great personality. Bring your unique perspective and drive towards achieving common goals
- A tertiary qualification – a Bachelor of Engineering is desirable
- Solid Edge and/or equivalent 3D design modelling experience (Inventor or Solidworks) and experience as a design engineer is even more of an advantage
- Experience in manufacturing methods with an understanding of manufacturing workplace NZ/AU standards
- A detailed knowledge of engineering principles. Experience in designing heavy engineering equipment advantageous
- A positive attitude, a passion for working in a collaborative team, and a desire to develop their design skills

Benefits:

- Flexible working hours
- Remote working options once integrated into the company
- Annual health check and flu shots (optional)
- Increased leave policies
- In house “Social Club” events
- Inclusive culture allowing personal and professional growth
- Annual company bonus
- Modern offices, software and hardware to help you achieve

About the Company:

As part of the global Kinshofer Group, Doherty Couplers & Attachments design, manufacture and distribute world-leading earthmoving attachments for the construction, demolition, quarrying and mining industries. They have a purpose-built workshop based in Tauranga in the beautiful Bay of Plenty and are a fast-growing company, offering a great working environment with opportunities to advance and learn alongside an innovative team. More importantly, they're a great bunch of people, who absolutely love what they do!

Why Should You Apply?

- Excellent career growth and advancement opportunities
- Annual bonus programme
- Did we mention...sun, surf and sand?

How to apply:

If you're good at what you do, and love doing it then you'll fit right in, select the 'Apply now' button or email: bronwyns@hrconnect.co.nz for further information or a copy of the position description.